

MONTBLANC

The Montblanc Motorcycle comes with the same, uber-luxurious design language seen in the company's pens. I'm talking clean surfaces, gloss black paint job with the judicious use of metallic accents. My favorite detail, however, has to be the bike's headlamp, which directly borrows its design from Montblanc's pen-caps and watch crowns. The lamp comes with a rounded conical glass cover under which sits Montblanc's famous star-shaped logo. The edge of the headlamp sports a metallic rim too, with protrusions on the side that make way for the bike's indicators features that directly resemble the crown seen on Montblanc's watches.

The bike comes in all black, with a relatively modern appeal. Chrome accents in just the right places make the bike stand out, while the black-on-black satin text on the bike's fork-guards helps highlight the company's branding without being too direct or obvious.
